Senators Seek Assignments on Good Committees.

WIRE PULLING HAS BEGUN

HOW THE UPPER HOUSE AR-RANGES MATTERS.

(Special to The Herald.) Washington, April 8 .- Although the reorganization of the senate for the work of the Fifty-ninth congress is many months away, there is already much jockeying among the so-called reverend senators for good committee places and chairmanships. In the house the fate of the member in reference to committee place is in the hands of the speaker, but in the senate there is no such one-man power. Many years ago the members of the senate thought hat too much power was lodged in the hands of the vice president, who then had absolute control of committee ap-pointments, and by senate rule which they adopted, they put this power in the hands of a committee on commit-tees composed of leading members of the dominant political party, and chosen by the senior senator of that party and by the majority members of the committee or the committee or Express Their Choice.

The committee on committees sends out a formal letter to every member of the senate asking him to express his wishes in regard to committee assign-ments. This letter is sent out a short ime prior to the assembling of the nev ongress, or shortly after it convenes, at members do not wait for its receipt fore laying their plans and putting them into execution to get good places, and there is much wire-pulling with senior members of the senate likely to have places on the committee on com-

Mistakes of New Members.

A new member of the senate cannot A new member of the senate cannot do anything better than to study attentively the composition of the various committees before deciding upon which ones he desires place. The most foolish thing for him to do is to get "pocketed" on a committee; that is, get behind a number of senators, reasonably certain to stay in the expect. certain to stay in the senate as long as they live, and equally certain to stay on the committees to which they are assigned, either as member or chairassigned, either as member or chairman. The new member often makes the mistake of getting a place on a showy committee such as foreign relations, or judiciary, or military affairs, and then find himself pocketed behind such life-termers as Cullom, Prye, Lodge, Hale, Platt of Connecticut or Aldrich. It would be far better for him to get on hard-working committees the chairmanships of which are shunned by the old-time seniors. The new member who wishes to get the chairmanship of a working committee early in his career should study carefully the composition of the various fully the composition of the various committees and ask for places on the ones whose membership is most likely to change, and which have the smallest number of members whose life tenure in the senate seems assured.

Coming Changes.

At the reorganization of the senate when the Fifty-ninth congress convenes there will be changes in the chairmanships of a number of desirable working committees. Chairman Proctor will give up agriculture, getting the better committee on military affairs.

The Cleofan will meet Tuesday with Mrs. Charles Wells. Mrs. Selden I. Clawson will present the tonic of the he better committee on military affairs the chairmanship being made vacant by the death of Senator Hawley. Proc-tor will be succeeded by Senator Dolli-ver, who is ranked by Senators Hansbrough and Warren, neither of whom wish the chairmanship, Hansbrough orefering to keep the chairmanship of bublic lands, and Warren preferring to erring to keep the chairmanship of lic lands, and Warren preferring to beed Fairbanks as chairman of publication for the word of the will be seed Fairbanks as chairman of publication for the word of the will be seed Fairbanks as chairman of publication for the word of t

Fulton's Good Luck.

Senator Warren will give up claims and will probably be succeeded by Senator Fulton of Oregon. Fulton is a comparatively new member of the senate and goes to the head of the important committee on claims because it is one avoided by older members of the senate on account of the great amount of hard work attached to it. Four sen-ators rank Fulton, but none of them wants the chairmanship, which goes a-begging to him.
The chairmanship of Indian affairs hecomes vacant by the retirement from the senate of William M. Stewart. Sen-ator Clapp of Minnesota will succeed him. Clapp is ranked by Senator Mc-Cumber, who could have the chairmanship, but prefers to retain that of pen-sions.

Warren's Assignments.

The retirement of Senator Fairbanks from the chairmanship of the committee on public buildings and grounds gives Senator Warren this place. Warren is said to have a better line of committee assignments than any other senator of his tength of service in the senate. In assignments than any other senator of his length of service in the senate. In the Fifty-ninth congress he will be chairman of public buildings and grounds, and will have second place on military affairs, second on claims and second on irrigation, which gives him a place on conference committees on bills reported from these various committees. He is also a member of the committee on appropriations which gives him a place on conference committees on several of the appropriation bills.

Few Important Places.

Few Important Places.

While there are many retirements from the senate and a large number of committee places available for the incoming new members, there are very few places vacant on the most important committee. The majority side of the committee on appropriations remains unchanged, not a member retiring. Two members drop out of the majority side of commerce. Foster of Washington, and Quarles, and there will be a warm contest among the newcomers for these places. Two also drop out of the committee on District of Columbia, a very desirable committee, and the places thus vacated, those of Stewart and Foster, will not go begging. out of the committee on District of Columbia, a very desirable committee, and the places thus vacated, those of Stewart and Foster, will not go begging. The majority side of finance, the most desirable committee in the senate, will not be changed. There will be one vacancy in the majority list of the committee on foreign relations, caused by the retirement of Senator Fairbanks, and this will be much sought after.
